A Statement as to the Efforts to Save

Loxoon, Oct 29 .- The committee of the Aberigines' Protection Society and the Peace Society finds it uphill work to raise any enthuslasm on behalf of Louis Riel. The members of these societies are more noted for eccentricity than influence, and their desire to sheath the warrior's sword and cut down the hangman's rope is not generally shared in. The British Carbolics alone are making anything like a stir on behalf of commutation, thing like a stir on behalf of commutation, and they are by no means enchusiastic. The ordinon expressed by those members of the public who have troubled themselves to consider the subject is that the privy countil having decided against Riel, his fate properly lies in the hands of the Canadian exercise; but the committee does not take they give and has beauted an account asset. this view, and has issued an urgent appeal for help, a sting that the time for effective for help, stating that the time for effective as ion is short. Messinger arrived from Corry with a prisoner for the Erie jail-a short, broad-shouldered young man of 26, whose name is William Bourne was the terror of his relatives in Corry, and his imprisonment was the only way of quieting their tears. His record is not calculated to inspire confidence, be having committed a most atrocious murder when but 15 years old. He then was a resident of Cattaraugus county, New York, and lived with his steptather. Of a stubborn disposition, he gave the old gentle-man a great deal of trouble, and it became Inturiated at the correction which was adminis ered from the kindest of motives, the boy determined to be revenged, and, procur-ing an ax, be struck his stepfather dead. The eight of the corpse, instead of impressing him with the consciousness of his trightful crime, excited him to a still his her pitch of fury, and he severed the head from the trunk and kicked the gha-tly object away as a child would a tootball. He was arrested, tried, convicted and sent to the Auburn prison for the remainder of his life. After nearly 10 years of confinement he war pardoned and re

Bourne came to this country and forced Bourne came to this country and forced himself upon his grandfather, the venerable Elder Friok, who had retired from the ministry on account of advanced age. At last, tired of supporting one who showed no disposition to make amends for his terrible past lie, the elder begged him to leave for some distant place where none leave his some distant place where none knew his hands had been stained with human blood. The young man promised compliance, and spoke of catablishing a cattle ranche in Texas if provided with shoes and money. These were given him, but he then said he had decided to postpone his departure until he had the lives of two men in Corry; he had al-ready killed a man, and it was not such a dreadful thing to commit another murder. The old minister, tearing that he or mem-bers of his tamily might be the victims of a grandson's sullen desire for vengeance, stern-ly bade him begone and shut the door or him forever. But he did not leave. He stayed around the premises, slept in the barn and acted in a manner which boded no good to the occupants or the place. A BIG DINCKEPANCY

n the Stories of Mother and Daughter at the Mayor's Office. [From Morning Edition.]

Prezzaune, Pa., Oct. 28,-Mrs. James Spencer, who lives on Bedford avenue, took her 15-year-old daughter before Mayor Fulton yesterday and wanted to have her sent to the reform school, claiming that she would not stay at home and was incorrigible generally. The girl was rather preposeesing in appearance, and her actions belied the testimony of her mother. She told her story in a plain, honest manner, and said the reason she would not stay at home was be cause her mother treated her very unkindly and on several occasions had besten her. The girl's father has been dead several years, and the reason her mother abuses her, she alleges, is because she will o marry a young man, who has been afno marry a young man, who has been dicting her with his attention. Several of the wirnesses testified that the of the witnesses testified that the girl was on the crossing when the acci-dent occurred, and that it would have been possible for the watchman to have seen her and warned her of her danger had he been attending to his duty. The coroner mentioned this fact in charging the jury. After remaining out for some time, the jury returned a verdict to the effect that Sadie McCombs came to her death as a result of carelessness on the part of Patrick Donnelly, watchman at the Twenty-second street crossing, who was not attending to his duty when

The President Wrestling With the Civil Service Commission - A Misdirected Court-Martial-The Usual Last of Appointmente. [From Morning Edition.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. $8 .- An intimate personal friend of the president who talked with him on the subject today, says he is experiencing much difficulty in his efforts to reorganize the civil service commission. He is siming to secure for that service three men who are well known to the country and whose names would be received as an earnest of his purpose to give such character to the commission as would give confidence to the friends of the movement, and world demon-strate that he regards the reform in the civil service one of the most important features of his administration. At the same time the his administration. At the same time the president is seeking man whose appointment will satisfy the people, whether friendly to the movement or not, that it is in the hands of practical reasoning men, who are not doctrinaires and who will consider and suggest a needed medification, to popularize the reform, in the execution of the law, without impairing its benefits. The salary of the position is only $3,500 and few men of prominence who possess the qualification named, are willing to make the accrifice. The reason why some of the many persons whose names. why some of the many persons whose name auggest themselves to the public in connecsuggest themselves to the public in connec-tion with the position are not appointed, is because they have already declined. No ap-pointment has yet been determined on. Among those who have declined appointment on the commission are L. Salfonstall and Charles Codman, of Massachusetts. Judge Schoom and E. O. BETTER COURT-MARTIAL LIEUT, GREEN, About half of the class of signal service men, who are undergoing a course of in-struction at Fort Meyer, to be completed in January, are being tried by court-mer ial on a charge of insubordination.

The circumstances are as follows: The men of the class felt that they were being unjust-ly and harshly treated by their instructor, Lieut, Frank Green, of the signal service, and when he added to this gross profaulty, indiscriminately calling them names not to be repeated, they resolved to make an effort for relief. With this view a meeting of the class was held, which resulted in a petition to the chief signal officer setting forth their grievances and appealing for relief. The netition was answered by an order for the court-mar-tialing of all the men who had signed the pe-tition, on the ground of insubordination. Gen. Hazen said to-night that the men are being court-martialed, not for expressing their grievances, but for holding a meeting and combining for that purpose, which he said was almost equal to mutiny.

Lieur, Green has been reprimanded by Gen. Hazen for his conduct.

The sessions of the court-martial are being held in the evening because nearly all its of-ficers are on duty in this city and cannot attend at any other time. The members of the class are being defended by Congressman Butterworth and Henry Wise Garnett. It is expected that the court will be over tomor-row and the findings will be submitted to Gen Hazen, as the court was ordered by the cen issen, as the court was ordered by the chief signal officers. The subject will not come before the department unless there should be a sentence of dismissal, which is hardly probable under the circumstances.

ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE

Wealth and a Lover Gained Together. O'rom Morning Edition.]
New York, Oct. 28.—The Tribune has this delightful true story

A veritable romance in real life, the facts of which are vouched for by the attorney of the young lady in the case, has been developed by his efforts to prepare the way for the admission to probate of a will by which she was made joint beiress of a valuable estate upon conditions which are now in course of fulfillment. The principal characters in the story, which might be named "The Silver King," "The Lost Heir," "A Tale of Two Cities," or "The Romance of a Poor Young Woman," are a wealthy Wall street operator, a wayward youth, who ran away from home and made a fortune, and a French young lady, companion to a desolate but wealthy widow. The story, as related yesterday to s Tribune reporter by John S. Griffith, a lawyer, whose office is in the Garfield building, No. 26 Court street, Brooklyn, is as follows: In 1871 Joseph W. Walters, a New York broker, living with his wife and only son in Greene avenue, near St. James place, Brook-

Green avenue, near St. James place, Brook-lyn, died, leaving a fortune of $100,000 to his widow. She was at that time about forty-eight years ald, and her son, Lester D. Walters, was sixteen. The boy was of a roving disposition, and wearying of the strict discipline of his mother's household, he re-solved to leave home and seek his fortune in solved to leave home and seek his fortune in the West. Having saved a little money from the allowance which Mrs. Walters gave him, he packed his trunk one day, informed his mother of his intention, and took a sudden departure. His mother thought be would soon see the error of his ways, and was prepared to kill the fatted calf as soon as the prodigal should return. Time passed on and no tidings of the truant were received. After a while the lonely widow nserted an advertisement in a New York newspaper calling for a lady companion Among those who applied for the position was Miss Marie De Lacy, a young French girl, who had been brought up in Paris, and found berself without friends in this country. She was of prepossessing appearance and manner, was an accomplished reader and conversationalist, and was a fine planist. She was engaged, and was soon the trusted friend of the lonely occupant of the brownstone mansion in Greene avenue. They continued to live in this bome for several years, and then nothing having been heard from young Walters who was mourned as one dead, they went to Europe and spent two years in travel, going as far as Palestine. Mrs. Walters became strongly attached to the young woman, and treated her as a daughter. They returned to this country, where they continued their tweeters. where they continued their travels. where they continued their travels. At length in 1852 Mrs. Walters died in this city, where they were temporarily living, and left a curious will. "The will is at my office," said Lawyer

Orifich yesterday to the reporter who called upon him at his home, No. 313 Madison street, Broonlyn, "but its exact terms are nearly as follows: "I give, derise and bequeath all my prop-erty, both real and personal, of every kind and nature, wheresoever the same may be situated in trust upon the following condisituated in trust upon the following condi-tions: First, it is my will and intention that my friend, Marie De Lecy, after my decease shall faithfully search for and find, if possible, my son, Lester D. Walters, and if the said Lester D. Walters is unmarried it is my wish that he and my friend Marie De Lacy join in the bonds of holy wedlock. If either my son or my friend, Marie De Lacy shall not consent to said marringe then the share bereinsfter mentioned shall revert to the one who refuses to abide by my wish. Second, If my said son, Lester 1 Walters, refuses to abide by my wish, I give and devise and bequests to him one-quarter of my estate, both real and personal, and the remaining three-quarters I give, devise and bequeath to my friend, Marie De Lacy; and it said marriage takes place I give, devise and bequeath all my property, both real and personal, to my beloved son Lester D. Waiters, and my beloved friend Marie De Lacy to be divided between them equally, share and here alike. The expenses growing out of the search for my son are to be paid on of my estate. Mr. Griffith sais that two years ago he was introduced by a well-known Wall Street op-erator and owner of silver mines in Mexico who did not wish his name to be published, to Miss De Lacy, who was living with friends in West Fifty-seventh street, in this city; that having learned the facts of the case, and saving also learned from a schoolmate of Mr. Walters that he was said to be in Mex co, be advertised for him in a Mexican newspaper. The advertisement was answered by Mr. Walters, who came to this city recently. By preconcerted arrangement the lawyer took Mr. Walters to the Boon theatre one night bout six weeks ago, where Miss De Lacy and Mr. Griffith's friend occupied a box. The young lady was pointed out to Mr. Walters, who fell in love with her at first sight. The were introduced after the play, and the party went to Delmonico's. Mr. Walters, who did not know who she was, and knew nothing of the terms of the will, visited her afterward, and they became engaged to be married.

Then the lawyer explained the little plot to Mr. Waiters by which they had been brought and told him about the will. Mr. together, and told him about the will. Mr. Walters was pleased, and the wedding will take place next Friday.

Sixty Persons Precipitated From a Bridge Into the River-Thirteen Still Missing, and Supposed to be Drowned-Several

[From Morning Edition.]
East Saulnaw, Oct. 28 -At 6:30 o'clock this evening, a fire broke out on the tug McDonald, lying at the dock, about one hundred feet south of the Ganessee Bridge, A large number of people were congregated on the bridge, when a piece of sidewalk on the bridge, five feet wide and forty feet long. containing about 60 people, gave away with a crash, and precepitated them into the river, 15 to 18 feet deep, with a strong current, The night was cloudy and dark. Strange to say, however, the greater number were saved, many badly bruised. The river is now being dragged, and the body of one boy named Sidney Fallon, aged eight years, has been brought up. It is thought several perished. Twelve or thirteen are mixing. thirteen are missing.

James T. Wait was rescued, but is badly Jao. Rothenburg, injured about the legs.

Geo. A. Irwin, slightly it jured about the legs.
Geo. A. Irwin, slightly it jured.
E. D. Cowles, managing editor of the Courier, was standing on the extreme further point of the bridge when it went down. He ould not swim a stroke, and was dragged by the struggling people to the bottom of the river twice, but got clear and dritted down clinging to a spile until rescued, sustaining but slight injuries.

Oxing to the large number of persons on the bridge at the time of the disaster, the darkness and the fact that the people picked up along the river were hurried to their homes, it is impossible to tell toright how many are missing. It is reported that there are thirteen. Prosecuting Attorney Emerick was reported in some how the transitions and the selections. are thirteen. Prosecuing Attorney Emerick was reported missing, but has turned up safe. Only one brity has been recovered—that of the boy Fallon. The current is very swift, and it is thought that some bodies have drifted some distance down stream. John Bush, Chester Meeres, Jrs. Murphy and A. L. Adams are mission and are supposed to be L. Adams are missing and are supposed to be drowned, as it is claimed they were on the bridge when it went down.

Dreadful State of Affairs in Montreal

MONTHEAL, Can., Oct. 28 - The civic health oard today discussed published charges of neglect and inhumane treatment of smallpox patients in St. Croix Hospital, relieved from duty the medical inspector in charge of that institution for failure to report in regard to the treatment, and decided to send a list of the published charges to him and to the lady superior of the hospital, with a request for a written explanation. The report of the sub-committee on hospital accommodations recommended that the Crystal Palace annex be taken, which would give an area of 30,000 feet and accommodate 50 patients.

Corroborative evidence has come to light relative to the treatment of smallpox patien's in St. Rohs Hospital. Bad cases of the disease, it is asserted, do not receive any attenease, it is asserted, do not receive any atten-tion whatever. There are only two nurses to wait on all the sick, and not the least attention seems to be paid to children patients. One child remained for three days unattended. It was emaciated for want of food, and when one of the old pa-tients called the nurse's attention to it, the latter simply realign that the latter simply replied that "It had enough. It is of no use, it is claimed, to ask for a doctor. Children of from fitteen months to five years of age are allowed to die without ul going near them. Often in their agony the little ones fall out of the bed onto the Shoots Two Sisters Whom He Had Pre-CHICAGO, Oct. 28 -Mrs. Ray Good and her sister, Miss Lillian Walter, employed in R.G. Dun's agency here, were shot and probably fatally wounded as they passed out of the office this evening, by A. J. Buna, a yourg man who formerly worked in the same place. He had been discharged on the statement of the two women that he had insulted them. He called at the office to-day and was told by the foreman that he would be taken back if he would applogize. This evening he waited in the hallway until the two sisters came out, when he fired two shots, one striking Mrs. Good in the neck and the other lodging in the side of Miss Walter's head.

He was taken to a police station by one policeman in the sight of a vast mob, who shouted, "Lynch him." He declines to make any statement about the affair.
